How to self-evaluate the chances of a proposed nomination to the International Marathon Swimming Hall of Fame (IMSHOF).

Induction into IMSHOF was achieved in the last two decades via the annual secret ballot of a selection panel of more than 30 individuals. The current process is described here and the makeup of the selection panel here. Fewer than 30% of nominees are generally selected for Induction.

Each annual ballot is different, and the selectors are not polled for their voting "logic/reasons". It is therefore not possible to compare the resume of a possible nominee to an Honoree to determine their chances. It is also noted that it gets progressively more difficult to be selected: there are more swimmers, swims, and contributors in the sport; cheaper travel; and better training/coaching/swim management/nutrition information. A swimmer active in the 1950s might have been inducted based on 4 marathons over a 5-year career – while a current swimmer would probably need 20+ marathons over an 8+ year career. Finally, some selectors are swayed by "the story" which could involve a country not well represented, unique swims/contributions, or overcoming life's hardships.

A potential nominator of a swimmer or contributor should read the biographies of the Inductees in the last few years and objectively answer the question: "Does the career of the swimmer or contributor compare favorably with recent Inductees?" Before submitting a nomination. It is advisable to check with info@imshof.org with the name before executing a complete nomination — for an initial reaction and suggested timing. Some individuals are barred based on known ethics issues, some have previously been on a ballot and been unsuccessful and some are already in process. Individuals/organizations that are still active are occasionally advised to wait a few more years to either further build a resume or avoid a similar nominee expected on the next ballot.

The nomination process can be very positive: a reminder of swimming and contributions career. It can also be negative: a nomination is not an honor and the process is private (only), it can be real work/research with difficult questions about non-ratified swims, previously quiet ethics issue may arise, and expectations are raised (with a real possibility of disappointment).

Recent Honoree resumes – to help self-evaluation.

Swimmers - Elite Racers:

Dr. Evgenij Pop Acev – 3 Major wins and 106 races in 21 countries.

Rita Kovács – 36 races (64% podium finishes), silver at 25 km World Championships and after an 8-year career hiatus then won her first race back.

Georges Michel – English Channel success on his 10th attempt in the 1920s/set the speed record and top 2 finishes in early Wrigley Marathons.

Swimmers - Soloers:

Courtney Moates Paulk – first to achieve a triple crown of 2-way swims.

Diane Struble – first ever swims of 32.7 km across Lake Champlain and 51.8 km length of Lake George and eighth swimmer to circle Manhattan Island (30 years after the seventh swimmer).

Ros Hardiman - 2019 Loch Ness 36.2 km in at age 67, previously English Channel in 20 hours and 17 minutes overcoming no use of her legs since age 6 due to polio.

Contributors:

Coach Catherine Vogt Kase - 16 countries as a 4-time FINA World Championship Head Coach and 3-time Olympic Open Water Head Coach (2012-Tunisia, 2016-USA, and 2021-USA).

Coach Dan Simonelli - supporting more than 300 Catalina and Santa Barbara Channel swims as well as other channel/marathon swims. He coached/crewed swimmers in 6 countries at distances: 10 km - more than 100 swimmers; 10 miles - more than 100 swimmers; and 25 km - more than 65 swimmers.

Administrator Beth Yudovin - 25+ years as her husband's (David Yudovin Honor Swimmer in IMSHOF & ISHOF) manager and crew chief. Together they completed many first ever marathon swims around the world and IMSHOF's Executive Committee since 2014.

Organization > Australian Long Distance Swimming Federation – nearly 50 years as longest-serving national open water swimming body in Oceania. Runs a successful marathon and manages the Australia Triple Crown.

Pilot > Captain John Pittman – During the years 2011 to 2015 he escorted 30+ successful swimmers a year, retiring in 2016.

End